GOOD TO KNOW INFO

BALDFACE CODE OF CONDUCT

Baldface will not tolerate any instance of bullying or harassment. All guests of Baldface share the responsibility to ensure that our shared environment is a safe and welcoming place to work and play. Our policy is not meant to stop free speech or to interfere with everyday interactions. It is important to remember it is the perception of the receiver of the potentially offensive message be it spoken, a gesture, a picture, or some other form of communication that may be deemed objectionable or unwelcome that determines whether something is acceptable or not.

REQUIRED SKILL LEVEL

All guests must be advanced to expert level skiers or snowboarders. Note: an expert skier on groomed slopes may be an intermediate skier in the powder.

Personal responsibility plays a central role in ensuring your safety and the safety of others on our slopes. Here are some key points to keep in mind.

Know your Skill Level: Be honest with yourself about your abilities. If you're unsure whether you're ready for this challenging terrain, it's better to err on the side of caution.

Listen to Warnings: Our experienced guides are here to help. If you receive advice or warnings about specific areas or conditions, take them seriously.

Physical Fitness: Riding our challenging terrain requires strength, endurance, and agility. Engaging in regular exercise and conditioning can make a world of difference.

In cases where a guest is deemed in danger of hurting themselves or anyone else due to their actions on the mountain, we reserve the right to ask them to sit out without offering a refund. This policy is not meant to discourage anyone from enjoying our terrain but rather to promote responsible shredding and ensure everyone's well-being.
