WEATHER DISCLAIMER (BALDFACE LODGE BOOKINGS)

We operate in a backcountry environment where weather conditions can vary unpredictably. While we strive to provide the best possible skiing experience, we cannot control or guarantee weather or snow conditions or trip outcomes. Baldface is not responsible for any disruptions, inconveniences, or loss of opportunity caused by adverse weather or snow conditions, including but not limited to closures, delays, or changes in skiing conditions.

WEATHER & OPERATIONAL CANCELLATION (BALDFACE VALHALLA BOOKINGS ONLY)

Baldface Valhalla operates in a dynamic mountain environment where weather, snowpack, visibility, avalanche hazard, mechanical issues, road access, and other operational factors may impact our ability to deliver skiing and snowboarding as planned. While our team works diligently to provide the best possible experience in all conditions, there may be circumstances where operations must be reduced or cancelled. A standard Baldface riding day is based on up to eight (8) guided runs. If six (6) or more runs are achieved in a day, the day will be considered successfully delivered and no refunds or credits will be provided. If fewer than six (6) runs are achieved due to Baldface cancelling operations for weather or operational reasons, partial credits may be issued at Baldface's discretion based on the portion of the riding day missed. If a full riding day is cancelled, either in real time or prior to guest arrival, guests will be offered one of the following options for the affected riding day: a 75% refund, or a 100% credit with Baldface. The 100% credit is above and beyond Baldface's standard cancellation policy and is offered as a gesture of goodwill. Please note: 25% of all trip payments are non-refundable booking fees. These fees cover costs incurred by Baldface prior to guest arrival, including staffing, operational planning, transportation logistics, food purchasing, maintenance, and administrative expenses. Baldface is not responsible for any additional expenses incurred by guests, including but not limited to airfare, hotels, transportation, rental vehicles, travel insurance, lost wages, or other third-party costs associated with travel to or from Baldface. Guests are strongly encouraged to purchase comprehensive travel and trip interruption insurance. Weather, snow conditions, and operational decisions are assessed daily by Baldface management and guiding staff with consideration for mountain conditions, safety, terrain access, and overall guest experience.

CODE OF CONDUCT

At Baldface, we are deeply committed to providing a safe, inclusive, and respectful environment for all guests and staff. To uphold this standard, we expect all guests to treat one another and our team with courtesy, consideration, and integrity at all times. This includes respecting personal space and privacy, avoiding any form of harassment or disruptive behavior, and following all lodge rules, safety protocols, and staff instructions. Guests must also adhere to our alcohol and substance use policies. If any individual feels uncomfortable or unsafe due to another person's behavior, we strongly encourage them to notify our staff immediately so that appropriate action can be taken discreetly and effectively. In cases of misconduct, responses may range from verbal or written warnings to removal from the property at their own expense without refund, and potential restrictions on future bookings. While we take every reasonable measure to ensure a secure and welcoming environment, guests are ultimately responsible for their behavior and interactions. By participating in a trip with Baldface, you agree to abide by this Code of Conduct.

REQUIRED SKILL LEVEL

All guests must be advanced to expert-level skiers or snowboarders. Note: An expert skier on groomed slopes may be an intermediate skier in the powder. Check out our Ability Level here. Personal responsibility plays a central role in managing risks that impact you and others on our slopes. Here are some key points to keep in mind: Know your Skill Level: Be honest with yourself about your abilities. If you're unsure whether you're ready for this challenging terrain, it's better to err on the side of caution. Listen to Warnings: Our experienced guides are here to help. If you receive advice or warnings about specific areas or conditions, take them seriously. Physical Fitness: Riding our challenging terrain requires strength, endurance, and agility. Engaging in regular exercise and conditioning can make a world of difference. In cases where a guest is deemed in danger of hurting or causing a risk to themselves or anyone else due to their actions on the mountain, we reserve the right to require them to sit out without offering a refund. This term is not meant to discourage anyone from enjoying our terrain but rather to promote responsible shredding and risk management.

LATE GUEST

If you are unable to make your scheduled transfer, please contact our office. 250-352-0006 Our transfer schedule allows exiting guests to shred as much as possible and for our arriving guests to get up to the lodge before nightfall. We cannot delay our program for late guests. Guests who miss their scheduled transfer from Nelson to the Lodge will be charged a $250 late fee without exception. In addition to the late fee, late guests will be responsible for the cost of an additional charter to the lodge. The charter will be scheduled at the earliest convenience of Baldface Lodge and our partners. In addition to the late fee and the charter cost, a late guest most likely will need to stay in Nelson at their expense.

LODGE DEPARTURE

At this time, departure will not be pre-booked. Due to the nature of possible different helipad elevations and our ski/snowboard program, we cannot preschedule departure. The transfer program runs from 2 PM-5 PM before February 15th and 3 PM-6 PM after February 15th. Please note that weather conditions can delay the program, and we recommend you give a buffer when booking your travel home. If possible, it's best to stay in Nelson the evening of your departure from the lodge and book your travel for the following day. Winter road conditions can also create delays in your travel plans. If a guest requires an early departure outside of our regular transfer program, please refer to the Late Guest Policy.

DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

You will be responsible for any loss or damage to Baldface property caused by you or any person for whom you are responsible. Baldface reserves the right to charge the cost of any such damage or loss, including required cleaning, repair, or replacement, to your credit card provided at check-in.

LIMITATION OF LIABILITY REGARDING TRIP RESERVATION

The Waiver signed by all guests takes precedence over these T&Cs, including the limitation of liability set out below. In the event the Waiver does not apply to a particular claim arising out of the reservation, the following shall apply: To the extent permitted by law, our liability for any and all claims arising out of this reservation, whether based in contract, tort, negligence, strict liability, or otherwise, will, in the aggregate, not exceed the actual fees paid by you to us pursuant to the reservation. In no event will we be liable for incidental, consequential, punitive, indirect, or special damages, including, without limitation, travel or related expenses, or lost opportunity.

RIGHT TO AMEND THESE T&C

We may, at any time, and at our sole discretion, modify our Terms and Conditions, including our Cancellation Policy, Booking Policy, and Refund Policy without notice to you. Any such modification will be effective immediately upon public posting. It is your responsibility to review the Terms and Conditions for updates or changes. Your use of our services following any such modification constitutes your acceptance of these modified Terms.

By making a reservation, or choosing to participate in a reservation, you irrevocably attorn and submit to the exclusive Jurisdiction of the British Columbia courts.
